V. PRECAUTIONS

1. Possibility of Online Program: In response to the COVID-19 pandemic and related public health regulations, the academic program under this PI may be conducted online. Depending on the regulations of each training institute, blended learning (hybrid learning combining online and face-to-face instruction) may also be implemented, including pre-sessions. In principle, even when the academic program is conducted online, participants must be physically present in Korea and are not permitted to participate from their home countries or outside Korea.
  - Early Departure: Due to unavoidable circumstances such as flight cancellations or border closures, participants may be required to depart Korea before the official program end date. In such cases, parts of the academic curriculum, thesis defense, or closing ceremony may be conducted online.
  - Living Allowance: Living costs are provided on a per diem basis according to the actual duration of stay. In cases of early departure, allowances will be calculated based on the actual departure date, not the originally scheduled program end date.
  - Compliance with Entry/Exit Guidelines: Any additional costs incurred due to failure to comply with entry/exit requirements shall be the participant's responsibility. For example, failure to present a valid PCR test result upon arrival or missing a scheduled flight may result in additional expenses such as rebooking fees.
  - Vaccination Requirements: Participants must independently check vaccination requirements with the training institute and prepare accordingly. Any disadvantages resulting from non-compliance shall be the participant's responsibility. For example, failure to provide required vaccination proof may result in inability to access dormitory accommodation, in which case the participant must arrange and cover alternative accommodation costs (up to the equivalent dormitory rate).
  - Dormitory Check-in: In principle, all participants are required to check in to the university dormitory.
2. Religious Meals & Personal Food Preferences: Religious meals and personal dietary preferences are not provided during the scholarship program or quarantine period upon entry to Korea. Participants may incur additional personal expenses if special arrangements are required.
3. Regulatory Compliance: KOICA SP participants should observe KOICA Scholarship Fellows' Guidebook and University internal rules and regulations, otherwise the participant would lose one's status as SP participants and a university student.
