International Symposium

Environment,
Risks and Health

November 5 - 6, 2019

SOUK-AHRAS

In collaboration with

PREAMBLE

« Environment, Risks and Health » words whose meaning seems innocuous but, as research has progressed, the scientific community has discovered close relationships and interdependencies between the animal and plant kingdoms.

This balance evolves and adapts to natural conditions, so that according to environmental changes, some species disappear and others "fight" to survive, revealing a remarkable ability of the living world to adapt to the environment

This symposium does not pretend to give answers, the thematic is fabulously rich and complex, but will try, through the selected communications, to raise topics on the eco-toxicology of Algerian fauna and flora, on their diversity, their originality, the ecosystems in which they develop, the pollutants risks on human and animal health, chemistry and the environment, risk management, and finally support decision making.

If after these two days of communication and conferences ,will emerge awareness about the need to a scientific human means federation, for sustainable development, this symposium would have achieved its objectives.

PROPOSED TOPICS

- Topic I/ Ecotoxicology of animals and plants
- Topic II/ Health and Environment
